8. On 2 April, the Loewen Kaserne and Adler Kaserne were occupied by a tank regiment under the command of Lieutenant Colonel Lefchenko (fma). A total of 60 T-34 tanks were sheltered in the three garages of the Loewen Kaserne. On 31 March, a company marched out of the Loewen Kaserne for combat firing at the training field. The first 4 to 5 ranks of 5 men each carried machine guns, the following 4 to 5 tanks carried a type of light machine gun and the others carried rifles. The rifle was about as long as the German model-98 K carbine, had a barrel without water jacket, a funnel-shaped muzzle which flared out about 3 cm, a round magazine about 25 cm in diameter and about 3.5 cm high fitted to the bolt mechanism. 25X1 (1) Comments.

Adler and Loewen Kaserne from a unit is believed to house one or two mechanized regiments of the 1st Necz Div, rather than a tank regiment. In early October 1951, the 19th Neca Regt was identified in the installation.

(2) The mortars are indicative of the unidentified mortar regiment of the 1st Necz Div which may possibly be quartered in Altes Lager. Reported observations of tanks, including T-34's, tend to indicate both the 72d Cds Mv Tank SP Regt and the 219th Tank Regt of the 1st Necz Div as stationed there. [redacted]

25X1 (3) [redacted] also reported the loading of howitzers of the 1st Necz Div on 25 March [redacted].

25X1 (4) A rough sketch indicated that the vehicle was a six-seated and presumably armored jeep-like car with cross-country mobility and two machine guns. [redacted]
